

ANARCHISTS FIRE SAN SEBASTIAN

AT END OF RECORD OCEAN HOP

So insistent with attention were the natives of the Welsh countryside where Harry Richman and Dick Merrill landed their plane after a record-breaking flight across the Atlantic that the fliers were forced to take refuge in the cabin and close the door. In this NEA Service radiophoto, flown to London and flashed across the ocean, a woman holding a baby converses with Richman (center) and Merrill as they stand guard over the plane.

DEATH CALLS HENRY DIERS

HENRY DIERS, 86, one of Orange county's oldest pioneers, passed away last yesterday at St. Joseph hospital. Services will be announced later from the Win-bigger mortuary.

Mr. Diers first came to Santa Ana in 1891. For the past 45 years, he had spent a large portion of his time developing ranches throughout Orange county, and at the time of his death had retired. He was a member of Santa Ana's city council when the first city hall was built.

Born in Germany, Mr. Diers came to California 65 years ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rosa K. Diers, two sons, William F. Diers, of Santa Ana, and Henry D. Diers, Jr., of Los Angeles; two daughters, Mrs. Arthur H. Pease of Orange and Mrs. Emil Bach, of Chicago, Ill.

BREAK GROUND FOR U. S. ARMY AIR BASE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 8.—(UP)—A ground-breaking ceremony climaxed by a huge blast today inaugurated work of the U. S. army's new $7,000,000 air base and supply depot for the Pacific coast.

Led by Brig. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, assistant chief of the air corps, representing the war department, high ranking officers took part in the ceremony attended by 10,000 persons.

In the air, four squadrons of bombers and pursuit planes from March field circled the air depot site as the ceremony was staged.

In explaining need of the new supply base, Congressman Frank Buck said:

"We are not seeking war, but it behooves us to provide every necessary means of defense. It is my hope that congress will provide funds for a ring of similar air depots encircling the entire United States."

CAR TROUBLE HALTS ASSAULT ON RECORDS

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Ab Jenkins, Utah's premier speed driver, today awaited repairs on his "Mormon Meteor" before resuming his record-breaking, two-day quest for racing titles after establishing seven new official world marks in 13 hours, 20 minutes driving time.

Jenkins was forced to bring his speedster to a halt on the 195th lap of the 10-mile circular speedway. Mechanics said the trouble was in the universal joint.

One unofficial mark Jenkins established was for 12 hours driving time. He averaged 158.4 miles an hour during the period, breaking the former record set by Capt. E. T. Eyston, of England, at 151.94 m. p. h. over the same course here several months ago.

Six of the seven world records which Jenkins brought back to the United States during his dare-devil, death-defying grind formerly were held by Eyston.

Theft of Sow Returns Six Dividends

EMPORIA, Kans., Sept. 8.—(UP)—A theft today had paid a dividend to the victims. On April 28 a sow was stolen from the Harry Wayman farm near here. Officers traced the animal and returned it—along with six pigs born several weeks ago.

MARKET CLAUSE OF AAA UPHELD

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich ruled today that market provisions of the AAA as related to quotas established by the secretary of agriculture were not affected by the supreme court decision invalidating portions of the act.

The judge issued an order enjoining Q. Davis Edwards, cotton orange shipper, permanently, from violating provisions of the pro-rate quotas established by the secretary of agriculture.

In presenting the government's case, U. S. Attorney Pierson M. Hall charged that Edwards' action in ignoring the quota provisions, threatened the entire price structure for citrus fruits by flooding eastern markets.

Edwards charged that the act was invalid and an infringement on his constitutional rights.

He also charged that enforcement of the quota was an invasion of state's rights.

"It is an economic truism that a stable price structure affects production. Everywhere, and particularly in the United States during the depression, the efforts toward economic recovery have been directed toward establishing a stable price structure that would encourage and would thus restore the unbalanced economic life.

"Regulation of prices must affect production directly.

"To deny to congress its plenary power over commerce merely upon the assumption that in some indirect way, such control may induce persons to increase production voluntarily, would if carried to its ultimate conclusion cripple and destroy the power of congress."

Judge Yankwich's ruling was the first of its kind to be decided in the lower court and may be the first dealing with the question to reach the United States supreme court.

Edwards announced his intention to appeal the ruling.

ALASKANS VOTE IN GENERAL ELECTION

JUNEAU, Alaska, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Alaska voters today select territorial nominees in a general election which may prove a barometer of political trends in continental United States.

Candidates, who carried on their campaigns by mule, airplane, train and radio and sought support not only in the larger Alaska cities but in the isolated villages within the Arctic circle, sought election on major American issues—the New Deal, bureaucracy, the constitution, alleged governmental extravagances and silver.

GOP CAMPAIGN GROUPS NAMED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Working smoothly, the Los Angeles county Republican assembly in initial organization of the county central committee, today put in its entire slate of acting chairman and membership of the rules and credentials committee.

The assembly group overran the program of Ingall W. Bull, veteran G.O.P. leader, who called the meeting to order.

Dr. Walter H. Boyd, Republican assembly candidate, was elected acting chairman. Boyd is chairman of the 18th congressional district organization of committee-men.

Palmer Connor of the 53rd assembly district was named chairman of the credentials committee, and Herbert Cameron of the 59th assembly district chairman of the rules committee.

Bull, on opening the meeting, apparently took it for granted that there would be an immediate adjournment to the general session this afternoon.

However, Raymond Tremaine of the 59th district, leading the Republican assembly group, promptly moved that a vote be taken on an acting chairman.

Bull objected that such a move would be a "breach of faith," declaring the notice calling the meeting had indicated there would be no business transacted until the later meeting today.

In a standing vote, Tremaine was supported and the delegates proceeded to elect Boyd.

"No breach of faith is contemplated," said Dr. Boyd curtly as he proceeded with the appointment of the two important committees.

With Connor on the credentials committee, which will proceed to

STUDIOS IN FIGHT OVER GARY COOPER

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(UP)—U. S. District Court Judge William P. James today was to rule on a demurrer filed by Samuel Goldwyn, a producer, to a $5,000,000 damage suit brought against him by Paramount studio for the alleged tawdry raid in signing Gary Cooper.

Goldwyn contended in the demurrer that the suit does not state a proper cause of action and requested that it be ordered dismissed.

The action seeking $5,000,000 damages was brought by Paramount through Adolph Zukor, production chief, charging that Goldwyn was "unfair" because it assertedly discharged two employees for activities in the reporters' organization.

Publishers of the paper, which has been suspended for three weeks by a guild's members walk-out, were expected to present a case denying the guild's charges.

Await Hearing in Newspaper Strike

SEATTLE, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Both sides of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer labor dispute intensified their drive for public support today as they awaited a federal labor relations board hearing Thursday.

The hearing will be held on the American Newspaper Guild's complaint that the newspaper was "unfair" because it assertedly discharged two employees for activities in the reporters' organization.

Publishers of the paper, which has been suspended for three weeks by a guild's members walk-out, were expected to present a case denying the guild's charges.

RECORD COTTON CROP FORECAST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(UP)—A 1936 cotton crop of 11,121,000 bales was forecast today by the agriculture crop reporting board on the basis of Sept. 1 conditions. A month ago the crop was estimated at 12,481,000 bales.

Condition of the crop was estimated at 59.1 per cent of normal Sept. 1 compared with 72.3 per cent Aug. 1, 73.6 per cent last year and a 10-year average of 67.7.

This year's estimated crop is larger than the 10,638,000 bales produced last year but smaller than the 1928-32 average of 14,667,000 bales.

Estimated abandonment of acreage was 2.9 per cent.

The crop board estimated 29,730,000 acres were left for harvest. Yield of 173.2 pounds per acre was forecast by the board. The estimate was 193.7 pounds Aug. 1, and 186.3 pounds in 1935. The 1923-32 average is 169.9 pounds.

The census report showed 1,373,868 running bales ginned from the 1935 crop prior to Sept. 1.

SEVEN BUSINESSMEN FACE FRAUD CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Seven Los Angeles and San Francisco businessmen were to appear before Federal Judge George Cosgrave today to have a new date set for their trial on mail fraud charges growing out of the collapse of the $25,000,000 Italco Petroleum corporation in 1931.

Reports that the defendants would attempt to have the charges dismissed led U. S. Attorney Pierson M. Hall to declare that he would press for an early trial and would oppose any attempt to drop the charges.

The defendants are John and Robert McKee, Alfred G. Wilkes, E. Bryon Siens, William J. Cavanaugh, Fred Shingle and Horace D. Brown.

Chilcott Goes On Trial For Murder

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Trial of Fred Chilcott, 23, charged with slaying Edward S. Stewart, Louisville, Ky., his co-ed sister's sweetheart, opened before Superior Judge Lloyd Griffin today.

Chilcott is charged with shooting Stewart as the latter left the Chilcott home the night of August 15 with Marjorie Chilcott, 20, in what the brother believed was an elopement.

Chilcott later said the shooting was accidental. He said he was attempting to stop the couple because he believed they intended leaving together without marrying.

Parking Meters Fail to Pay Happy Gambler

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 8.—(UP)—A patrolman today told of finding a man clinging unsteadily to a parking meter with one hand and inserting nickels in the device with the other.

"The thing's crooked," complained the man, "I've put in $5.75 and it hasn't paid off once."

FLAMES SWEEP MALIBU HILLS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(UP)—A brush fire raging in the Malibu Hills area near the beach homes of Hollywood film stars today destroyed a score of homes, camps and ranch buildings, threatened the former home of Richard Dix, and was reported to have taken at least three lives indirectly.

More than 1500 men fought the flames which had already burned over 3000 acres and was spreading over the same area swept last fall by a blaze that sent stars fleeing from their beach mansions.

Report Three Dead

The three reported deaths were of residents of the area whose automobiles were wrecked as they fled from the fiery canyons. A Topanga canyon cafe owner, "Stick" Melas, was found dead beside his machine. The fire had crept to within a mile of the spot where the body was found.

At another point in the fire-swept canyons an automobile was reported overturned with two persons pinned beneath it and reported dead. If the motorists still lived, fire wardens said, they were in imminent danger of being burned.

A stiff ocean breeze whipped a small blaze into a three-mile front of fire last night, forcing thousands of residents, campers and Labor Day merry-makers fleeing.

Eight thousand persons attended the re-opening of Tyrolean Crags resort north of Calabasas, vacating the place hurriedly as the flames approached.

Destroy Ranger Station

The Saddlelock ranger station, a Boy Scout camp, buildings on two ranches and an undetermined number of cabins were swept. The flames licked close to the former residence of Dix, the motion picture star, in Las Tunas canyon.

Assistant County Forester J. E. Pemberton shortly before noon estimated that at least one dozen homes had been burned, in addition to a number of cabins and barns.

The $5500 mountain home of Henry Stone, official of the Bank of America here, was reported destroyed.

A large crowd of householders, forced to abandon their rustic homes in the canyons, assembled at a junction post office and watched the flames shooting over the ridges a quarter of a mile away.

Seriously threatened were Fernwood in Topanga canyon, where there are 400 cabins, and a county detention camp at the head of Los Flores canyon. Deputy sheriffs made ready to rush the 55 prisoners from the detention camp if the fire came closer.

A cache of 1700 pounds of high-way blasting powder a short distance away was threatened.

All deputy sheriffs who were off duty were summoned to go into the area and warn residents to flee.

Pumpers and fire-fighting equipment from Los Angeles and other nearby cities were sent against the flames. Forest rangers brought in CCC crews from Santa Barbara and San Bernardino National forests.

The announcement said the grant would make possible permanent construction costing $10,936,233 of which local applicants will furnish $6,081,991.

Projects approved included: Safford, Ariz., $178,364, grants and $218,000 loan, for water system.

DISABLED SCHOONER LOCATED BY LEBREE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—(UP)—The Coast Guard cutter Shawnee today was dispatched to aid the lumber schooner, F. S. Loop, which advised the Union Oil tanker Lebre by flares that she had lost her deckload and was leaking badly. She asked immediate assistance, Mackay Radio reported.

The F. S. Loop is not equipped with a radio. Her officers signaled the Lebre with flares when the latter ship passed close by off the coast of northern California, south of Eureka. The Lebre was standing by, waiting to give aid if the cutter does not arrive in time.

Police Search For Missing Rancher

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Anxiety of relatives increased today as they renewed efforts to find John D. Timberlake, 52, El Paso rancher who disappeared Aug. 25 from Tipton, Calif., after supposedly completing a $18,000 cattle deal.

Mrs. Timberlake was worried particularly because her husband failed today, for the first time in 25 years, to send her greetings on their wedding anniversary.

Edgar Timberlake, a brother of the missing man, asked Sheriff Chris P. Fox of El Paso to seek the aid of California authorities in the search.

NEW U. S. BOND ISSUE OFFERED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., going into the financial markets for a billion dollars in government funds, today was confident the mid-September operation would succeed because of "constantly growing confidence of investors."

Morgenthau's statement was made as the treasury offered nearly $1,000,000,000 in 2 1/2 per cent 20 to 23 year bonds. The funds will be used to replace $514,966,000 in 1 1/2 per cent notes maturing Sept. 15 and to provide $400,000,000 in new funds for the government cash box.

The operation will add approximately $400,000,000 to the public debt which Sept. 3 totaled $33,367,910,026. President Roosevelt's Sept. 2 budget revision forecast a public debt by next June 30 of $34,188,544,494.

He also set a limit on borrowing of new funds during the remainder of the fiscal year of $750,000,000. Today's operation will leave only about $250,000,000 in new

CLINARD RANCH SALE REVEALED

HENRY PANKEY, well known Orange county capitalist and citrus grower, has purchased the 45-acre English walnut grove at the northeast corner of McFadden and Halladay, Santa Ana, from the Barney Clinard estate. The price is reported to be about $80,000, all cash.

The tract was the home place of Mr. Clinard, pioneer walnut and citrus grower of Orange county, who died about two years ago. There is a fine residence on the north end of the tract, facing Halladay.

The tract extends for several blocks along Halladay, being just inside the Santa Ana city limits. Irrigation is provided by both the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation ditch and a well on the tract.

Mr. Pankey recently completed a $50,000 home on Lemon Heights which is rated as one of the show places of Santa Ana. He owns and operates about 300 acres of citrus groves in the vicinity of Irvine.

PILOT FORCED DOWN IN RECORD ATTEMPT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—An attempt by Lieut. Walter M. Bass of the army flying reserve to set a new Los Angeles-to-Mexico City non-stop speed record ended with his being forced down by a storm near Queretaro, Mex., according to a telephone message to his wife here today.

Bass, chief test pilot of the Airplane Development Corp., is flying one of the company's Vultee V-11 single-motored attack bombers to Buenos Aires for a demonstration before Argentine government officials. He left here at 6:45 a. m. (PST) yesterday.

He planned to attempt a Mexico City-Panama City speed record en route.

It was feared he would fail. Flares flicked their way through the picturesque fishing port of Pasajes, just east of San Sebastian. It was believed loyalist miners started the fire by planting dynamite to prevent Pasajes, a "deep water" port, from being used by rebels as a gateway for munitions.

Rebels had taken Irun, now a mass of ruins; Fort Guadalupe, Guentzville, and Pasajes seemed open to them.

All through the night explosions reverberated from the tiny port as the loyalist mines exploded. It looked as if half the town was afire.

Rebels lay in force in the surrounding hills, their Carlist flags of red and yellow planted among the trees, awaiting merely an order to advance and take Pasajes, then to attack San Sebastian.

Hundreds of loyalist militiamen moved during the night from Pasajes to San Sebastian for a

PIONEER GRAIN BROKER EXPIRES

OXNARD, Calif., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Henry Levy, 70, pioneer Oxnard grain broker and a resident of the Oxnard-Hueneme district for more than 50 years, died at his home here last night following a brief illness.

Born in Paris, Levy came to the United States and settled in Hueneme when he was 18 years old. He established his grain business before the turn of the century when Hueneme was one of the busiest ports in the south.

He is survived by his widow, Camilla, and three children, Henry, Jr., Jeanne and Joseph, all of Oxnard.

ATTENDANCE RECORD SET AT STATE FAIR

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Another state fair attendance record was established yesterday when the Labor Day crowd totaled 101,182 persons, officials announced today.

The unprecedented attendance brought the total for the first three days of the exposition up to 252,637.

It was the second time the previous high total for a single day's attendance had been broken. The former record of 82,305 was established Labor Day, 1934.

SEEK PARLEY IN MOVE TO SAVE CITY

Basque Nationalists Fight Destructive Move; Rival Factions in Battle

HENDAYE, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Advancing rebels entered the suburbs of San Sebastian today. The anarchists set fire to the Trincheppe district, where they had intended to make their last stand.

A state of siege was declared in San Sebastian, where the Basque nationalists rioted against the anarchists.

Smoke and flames appeared to the east as the anarchists among the loyalist defenders set fire to nearby Trincheppe, which they had hastily fortified as a last outlying defense.

The anarchists have planted stores of gasoline and dynamite all through the city and have vowed to destroy it rather than permit it to fall into rebel hands.

The Basque nationalists, however, want to save the city. There was internal dissension. A state of siege has been declared and the rival factions battled in the streets.

All effort to wring concessions from the rebels in return for a pledge to spare the city from destruction have so far failed.

A considerable exodus is in progress, both combatants and non-combatants crowding into boats in the beautiful horseshoe harbor of this famous playground of aristocracy and making across the bay to France.

PERMIT IS ISSUED FOR HORTON HOME

J. C. Horton, Santa Ana furniture man, was today issued a permit by Santa Ana Building Inspector Sam Preble to construct a home near the intersection of North Park boulevard and Benton Way. The permit was for $15,643. John Terpstra was named as contractor in the permit. Subsidary contracts will raise the total valuation of the residence to $20,000. The architecture is to be of the French provincial type.

Tomorrow Is Last Day for S. D. Fair

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 8.—(UP)—The second season of the California Pacific International exposition will end tomorrow night. Attendance for the 1936 season is expected to reach approximately 2,200,000 for a grand total for the two years of nearly 5,000,000.

DOZEN HURT IN CAR ACCIDENTS OVER HOLIDAY

No fatalities occurred on Orange county highways during the weekend and holiday, police and hospital reports revealed today, but more than a dozen persons were injured in collisions of vehicles.

Camille Forey, 19, Garden Grove, was treated for lacerated scalp at Orange County hospital last evening, after the car in which she was riding near Irvine park on the county park road with Albert Criss, 18, 224 South Vine, Anaheim, overturned. Criss said he drove his car over a four-foot bank to avoid striking an oncoming automobile and a parked vehicle. He was not injured, according to report to California Highway Patrol officers.

At Seventeenth street and Tustin road last evening, Florence Freeland, 45, 222 Jacaranda street, Fullerton, and a Mrs. Kennedy, 50, San Diego, were injured as a car operated by Roland Freeland, 46, and a truck operated by Joseph Jarless, 25, Ontario, collided.

Several persons were treated at Orange County hospital for minor injuries. Charles Young, 27, Newport Beach, and Oscar Wood, 50, Santa Ana, were charged with drunk driving after being given first aid at the hospital. Wood assertedly drove his car into a tree at Tustin; Young's car also struck a tree. Young claiming a stomach hurt by him to drive, jumped from his car and ran away after the accident.

Phil Burlage, 14, was treated at the hospital after a tractor knocked over his teeth out. Grace Van Wert, Route 4, Anaheim, received lacerations about the face when her car collided with a tree, she reported at the hospital.

Chester Bowen, 30, received fractured finger and face lacerations on which he was treated at the hospital, when a car operated by his wife, Pearl Bowen, 24, Los Angeles, collided with cars operated by Bert Singer, 50, Los Angeles, and Lawrence Timken, 17, Box 21, Olive, Sunday evening on Santa Ana canyon road near Olive.

Saturday, Dan Perez, 4, Garden Grove, suffered injured shoulder when he fell off of a truck; Roy Forba, 22, Tustin, fell off the running board of an automobile the same day and received cuts about the head. Both were treated at Orange County hospital.

Walter Reed, about 50, Los Angeles, was treated for dislocated arm, at Santa Ana Valley hospital, after an accident yesterday.

CITY SCHOOLS READY TO OPEN

The annual meeting of city teachers will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. in the high school auditorium. Teachers of the county being invited to join them.

Tomorrow's dedication of the new high school administration building, finest of the five units that make up the new $300,000 school plant, will be one of the highlights of the week.

School officials, architects, contractors and others whose labor brought the new structures into being will be on the auditorium stage, with H. M. Cotton of San Clemente, political leader whose influence aided Santa Ana in securing federal appropriations for its building program, as a special platform guest.

Chairman George Wells, of the board of education, will formally present the completed building to the district. Music will be provided by Mrs. Dodley Page Harper and Herbert G. Bickel of the high school faculty. City Superintendent Frank Henderson will preside over the program.

New Class Rooms
New class-rooms to be used at the high school this year will include those in the administration building, which holds nine classrooms, auditorium, little theater, library and administrative offices, where Principal Lynn H. Crawford and Mrs. Dora Lutz, registrar, are counseling students this week.

Some of the emergency tents still will be used, pending completion of other high school units. The Commerce and Mathematics building, to be completed next month, will supplant some of the tents but others will be used throughout the first semester, until the home economics, history and English departments, in January.

New high school courses this year include "Business of Living," in the Social Science department; auto mechanics, in the industrial arts department; A Capella choir and music appreciation, in the music department; and badminton, in the physical education department.

High School Registration schedule is as follows:
Wednesday: 9 to 9:30, faculty meeting; 9:30 to 10:30, B sophomores (R to Z); 10:30 to 12 noon, B sophomores (L to Q); 12:40 to 2 p. m., B sophomores (E to K); 2 to 4 p. m., B sophomores (A to D).

Thursday: 9 a. m. to 12 noon, A and B seniors (L to Z); A sophomores (L to Z); 12:40 to 2:30 p. m., A and B seniors (A to K); A sophomores (A to K).

Friday: 9 a. m. to 12 noon, A and B juniors (L to Z); 12:40 to 2:30 p. m., A and B juniors (A to K).

Santa Ana Junior college also will have new buildings for the opening of school. A $600,000 building program completed a few days ago, added two new buildings to the campus, to house the El Don news room, news service, and the offices of John H. McCoy, director of journalism and assistant director of the college; also an electrical laboratory. The other new building will house English and mathematics classes.

New courses at the junior college include "Outdoor Sports Technique," covering a wide field of sports, including marksmanship; radio electricity, business English, bookkeeping, and newspaper study.

Fisk Promoted

Former Dean McKee Fisk, member of the Junior College faculty for the last ten years, who was granted a year's leave of absence covering last term, will not return to Santa Ana, having accepted the headship of the department of economics, in Oklahoma University of Agriculture and Mechanics, at Stillwater, Oklahoma.

His leave of absence here had been granted to permit his attendance at Yale, where he has been appointed to a teaching fellowship, and where he completed his work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education.

His dissertation for completion of the doctorate was on the "Regional Junior College: Its Community Aspects as Typified by Southern Orange County." The dissertation has been pronounced especially valuable to the local junior college.

"His position with the Oklahoma University is a very attractive one and Dr. Fisk's friends here in the junior college and the community in general will be glad to learn of this deserved promotion."

No attempt will be made to replace Dr. Fisk here during the first semester, Henderson said.

FLAMES MENACE SAN SEBASTIAN

Wide stand, and Pasajes seemed wide open when the rebels want to occupy it.

As pressing as the task of preserving San Sebastian from complete ruin, is that which the diplomatic corps here on the frontier foresees of saving Madrid from a rebel gas attack.

It was learned authoritatively the diplomatic corps received information from Madrid that the rebels dropped leaflets threatening to gas the city unless it surrendered. Several diplomats have informed their governments of this threat and have asked instructions regarding a possible advance protest to the rebels.

MADRID, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Loyalists began a terrific bombardment of Oviedo, in the north, with artillery and airplanes at dawn today, the war ministry announced.

IRUN, Spain, Sept. 8.—(UP)—A government airplane bombed Irun and Fuenterrabia today, dropping 12 bombs, some of which fell on the beach at Hendaye, France, scattering sightseers. Rebel anti-aircraft guns replied to the planes.

Leaders of the Basque nationalists met at Bilbao and decided to oppose bitterly the control of San Sebastian by the anarchists. They favored reaching an agreement with the rebels to avoid the city's destruction.

MADRID, Sept. 8.—(UP)—The government mobilized the capital's police force today for emergency use in the Talavera sector southwest of Madrid where the most important battle of the whole civil war is developing.

Carabiniers, storm guards and National Republican guards (the former civil guards) who are on police duty were formed into a shock troop detachment and ordered to be ready to leave for the front on an hour's notice.

Ten thousand militiamen were held as a reserve ready to go to any part of the area.

Long trains of motor trucks, awaited any troops the government needed.

Toledo is the key to the battle area. There, loyalists are blasting with every weapon they possess at the Alcazar in which 1200 rebel men, women and children have been besieged for seven weeks. It was learned that among the rebels are some loyalist families who were trapped when the rebels fortified themselves in the old palace.

A big army of seasoned rebels, principally Moore and foreign legionnaires, in command of Col. Juan Yague is trying first to raise the siege of the Alcazar at Toledo and then to proceed on to Madrid.

The situation was made more grave because loyalist troops reported that motorized troops columns are arriving in the Talavera area from the Avila area west of Madrid to reinforce the rebels.

The Loyalist bombardment at Toledo has been intensified in hope that the Alcazar may be taken and its besiegers released for the Talavera front.

At present the actual battle front is just east of Talavera. Reports that the Loyalists have actually captured Talavera are untrue and the government had not announced any such capture up to this morning (6:30 a. m.—2:30 a. m. EDT). What has been announced, is that Loyalists in a desperate counter attack, threw the rebels back four miles toward Talavera. The Loyalist line is just in front of the city.

A United Press correspondent visited the area personally and confirmed that the Loyalists occupy a front between 1 1/4 and 5 1/2 miles east of the city.

'Phantom' Thief Gets Insurance Papers, Watches

Mrs. C. C. Kirkham, 407 West First street, whose home was burglarized by Santa Ana's "phantom" burglar last night, declared today that insurance papers, letters and a wedding certificate of hers were taken as well as rings and watches belonging to George Popoff, a roomer, and valued at $100.

Mrs. Kirkham hoped someone might find the insurance papers, letters and wedding certificate, discarded by the burglar, and return them to her.

DETROYAT OUT OF SHELL RACE

Has already pocketed $14,400 in awards in two races, announced he would keep the blue-hulled racer which is the center of the controversy on the ground today to give the Americans "a chance at the prize money."

After his performance in the Thompson dash yesterday, averaging 24.20 miles an hour for the 150 miles, he had been conceded a walkaway in today's shorter sprint With Detroyat out, Earl Ortmann, young Oklahoman, was given the best chance for the biggest share of the $3000 purse today.

Ortmann Not Lapped
Ortmann was the only flyer who was not lapped by the Frenchman in the Thompson dash yesterday which raised a flurry of criticism on grounds Detroyat was using a "government plane."

The French ship which attracted the curiosity of the crowd and the envy of Detroyat's fellow airmen looks like a giant flying fish in flight.

Contrasted to the stubby American plane built like bullets with fine jutting out at the sides, Detroyat's racer has a long slender dark blue hull and thin wings that extend some four feet further than the American ships.

It is a low wing monoplane, and low slung, with a proportionately small landing gear. The lanky Frenchman sits hunched in a small cockpit behind the screen-covered hood hiding the 1000 horsepower Renault engine. The French motor turns over with a loud but smooth hum at high speed, contrasted to the whine and snarl of the American racers as they streak past the grandstands.

DETROYAT PLANE NOT $100,000 SHIP
RACE, Sept. 8.—(UP)—The Renault-Caudron plane in which Michel Detroyat won the Thompson trophy race in Los Angeles cost one million francs, not one million dollars, a spokesman for the Renault company said today. One million francs is equivalent to $65,530.

"The company lent Detroyat a plane belonging to the Renault racing fleet that was built especially for last year's Deutsch cup race and cost one million francs, not dollars," the spokesman said. "We lent Detroyat the plane, paying the packing and shipping costs, Detroyat paying his own way."

The spokesman was asked if anyone might purchase the plane or a similar one for one million francs. He said planes of the type were not for sale to the public.

DETROYAT WINS THOMPSON DERBY
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(UP)—Michel Detroyat, tall smiling Frenchman who takes his flying honors lightly, pocketed $14,400 in American prize money and the National Air Race championship today, unmoved by critics who denounced him for use of a "government plane" to beat an American field of "backyard mechanics" in the $20,000 Thompson trophy race.

Scarcely had the French speed ace landed his plane in front of the grandstand packed with 80,000 persons before Col. Roscoe Turner renewed a blast against the race committee and the French government for letting a foreign entrant "trim a bunch of little guys who build airplanes in their back yards."

Turner Flays Racer
Turner had first touched on the subject before the race when he was called on for remarks through the loudspeaking system. He complained by disparaging the accomplishments of a flyer who raced a "million dollar plane" built by "government engineers to compete against ships that cost no more than $15,000."

Detroyat emphatically denied that the dark blue Caudron-Renault racer which whipped over the 150-mile Thompson route at the record-breaking speed of 24.26 miles per hour, either had cost $100,000 or was built by his government.

"It cost only $65,000 and built by private enterprise," he insisted. "The French government had nothing to do with it, except to permit me, through the air ministry, to bring it to America."

Turner, who said he was kept from competing by recent crash injuries, equally was insistent that the winning plane was a government craft.

"This Caudron-Renault plane was designed by the French government solely to bring the title to France," he charged. "They spent $1,000,000 on it. If we were going to have an international race for government planes—fine, let's do it. The old Schneider cup race was that kind of a proposition, not enough interest could be aroused to keep it going, but if they want to revive it all right."

Laboratory Races
The National Air Races are primarily purposed to stimulate aviation in America. The races serve as laboratories for plane engines, and professional engineers have learned a few things from them. I don't say, even at that, that we couldn't have built a plane to beat the French. If Benny Howard hadn't cracked up, or if I hadn't cracked up it might have been a different story."

"But it takes months to develop a competitive ship in that class—six or eight, anyway, and I don't think any of us were informed that we'd be expected to match our skill and resources against the wealth of France."

Neither air race officials nor the American fliers Detroyat overwhelmed with his blinding speed commented on Turner's charges. One source, however, pointed out that under the regulations that govern the Thompson trophy race any and all planes can be entered provided they can qualify at 225 m. p. h., the sole requirement.

Detroyat's victory—which was a virtual repetition of his conquest in Sunday's $10,000 Greve trophy race—was never in doubt. Leaping ahead of the 9-plane field at the start, he began passing American opponents on the third lap of the 10-mile course, and lapped every plane in the race except the speedy Keith Rider Special of Earl Ortmann, 23-year-old Oklahoman, who finished second—eight miles behind the winner.

Blistering Speed
The French plane gave its greatest demonstration of speed the second time it circled the pylons, completing that lap at the blistering rate of five miles a minute.

Roger Don Rae of Lansing, Mich., flying a tiny White Rider racer, held third place at the finish. Harold Neumann of Kansas City, the defending champion, came in fourth with his Folkerts racer; and Harry Crosby, Glendale airmail pilot, finished fifth in his highly vaunted home-made racer.

Crosby, however, "cut" two pylons in the race and was penalized by being dropped to sixth and last place behind Marion McKee, Inglewood, Calif. Flyer who was piloting a trim red Brown B2 speedster.

Three entries. Art Chester of Chicago, Lee Miles of Wichita, and David Elmendorf of Palms, Calif., could not withstand the pace of the leaders and dropped out of the race. A tenth entry, S. J. Wittman, the "flying professor" from Oshkosh, Wis., who cracked up his own racer two days ago, could not get his substitute plane started and was left at the post.

Detroyat's victory netted him $9500, which added to the $4900 he won winning the Greve race, made him the big money winner of the 4-day meet. An additional $2500 was included in the Thompson prize as a reward for setting a new record.

Ortmann, who fell five miles short of equalling the Thompson record of 282 m. p. h., collected $4375 for second place. Rae collected $2400; Neumann, $1575; McKee, $1225, and Crosby, $875.

The field of entries in today's Shell Cup race was a virtual duplicate of the Thompson event, but the race was restricted to 10 1/2-mile laps.

Entries included Detroyat, Neumann, Chester, Elmendorf, Miles, Rae, McKee and Crosby.

J. C. FIRE EXTINGUISHED
Fire started in the basement of the Junior college Administration building Sunday evening about 9 o'clock caused approximately $100 damages, according to reports of firemen who extinguished the blaze. Sparks ignited sawdust, causing the blaze, it is believed.

fill any vacancies which may occur in bringing the county committee to its full strength of 210 members, were named: Edward S. Graham, Myron C. Burr, Millard M. Myer, Dr. Frank A. Pearl, John Holden, John V. Chambers, A. E. Henning and Burton Chase.

Members of the rules committee, under Cameron as chairman, are: Don Ferkuson, Herbert S. Farrell, Floyd Chittman, Homer Chappell, Murray Aken, Carlisle Linton, Robert Henderson, and Dr. White. Sides.

The committees were called into session to make their reports when the general central committee went into session at 2 p. m.

While the Republicans were holding their initial session, the Democrats had gathered for what was scheduled to be a brief meeting, with the general gathering scheduled for 8 p. m., in the assembly room of the State building.

George T. Ashley, retiring chairman, called the meeting to order and Irvin D. Smith, of the fifth district was named temporary secretary without any of the fireworks which usually marks any gathering of the storm-tossed Democratic forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Chambers today had a suit on file in superior court against Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Miller to cancel an agreement made in 1929 to sell the Millers certain property, consisting of 9.77 acres, at Anaheim. Payment was not made on the contract, the plaintiffs claim. They also ask that title be quieted in their favor.

Mrs. Eva May Griset has filed suit in superior court for divorce from William Griset, whom she married in Santa Ana 21 years ago, July 6, 1905. They separated August 25, this year. Mrs. Griset, represented by Attorney Ridley Smith, charged cruelty.

COMMITTEES HOLD MEETINGS TODAY

Both Democratic and Republican county central committees were holding their organization sessions this afternoon at the courthouse, in accordance with the statute which requires such meetings to be held on or before September 8.

Both meetings called at 2 p. m. were expected to be harmonious. The Democrats, with a new chairman to select, held a secret caucus last week to plan a harmonious session today. B. Z. McKinney, of Santa Ana, who led the entire ticket at the election, was expected to be chosen chairman.

The Republicans were expected to re-elect Chairman Howard Irwin, of Fullerton.

The fact that the new securities mature in a longer time, yet carry the same interest rate, indicates a "constantly growing confidence" among investors in the government's credit, he asserted.

"There will be no difficulty in disposing of the bonds and they are reasonably priced," Morgenthau remarked. "Previous issues of 2 1/2 per cent bonds are now selling at a premium on the market."

The securities, which will be issued as bearer and registered bonds, will be in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1000, $5000, $10,000 and $100,000.

Both cards protested the idea of establishing the meter system, and the writers took the stand that such a system would in their particular cases result in drawing trade to some other city.

"Why should we be forced to pay to park on streets that were constructed with money which we as tax payers contributed," the writers demanded. "If such a system is established, you can feel assured that trade will definitely move to some other location."

The cards in question were addressed to the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and were sent by Sarah E. Wallace and E. Russell, both residents on Rural Route 4, Santa Ana.

"We have contacted business men and residents throughout the city, and nowhere have we located a person in favor of the system," Wood said. "There may be a few who think the idea is all right, but if there are, the chamber of commerce has been unable to locate them."

Warren McDonald, 26, transient from Kingsburg, arrested by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey and James Workman early Sunday morning on a vagrancy charge, pleaded guilty before Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court today and was given six months' jail term, suspended for two years.

money to be borrowed by the treasury between now and June 30, 1937.

Republican spokesmen contend New Deal spending and borrowing policies threaten the fiscal stability of the nation and are undermining business confidence.

Morgenthau said the $400,000,000 was being borrowed now so that present treasury working balance could be maintained above $1,000,000,000. He said he wanted that amount on hand because of "unsettled European conditions."

Just a year ago the treasury issued bonds at the 2 1/2 per cent interest rate maturing in from 10 to 12 years.

MAC ROBBINS HEADS CHEST DEPARTMENT

Thorough enlightenment of the public regarding the work and needs of charity and welfare organizations of the Community Chest is the goal of a public relations department now being formed under the leadership of Mac O. Robbins, it was announced today by D. Glenn Tidball, executive chairman of the campaign, which will be conducted early in October.

"Instead of simply campaigning for funds this year we are going to appeal for an understanding of the charity and welfare needs of Santa Ana which must be met by the organizations operating with Community Chest funds," Chairman Tidball explained.

"We feel that when this understanding and appreciation has been obtained subscriptions to the Chest will be made graciously and generously. Mr. Robbins and the committee in his department will lay the groundwork for the campaign by utilizing every possible means of spreading information prior to the campaign and will continue their activities during the coming year so that subscribers to the Chest may know of the good that their gifts are accomplishing." Chairman Robbins stated that in addition to newspaper publicity every effort would be made to disseminate information about the Chest through the activities of the following committees: Club co-operation, Chest agency activities, church co-operation, speakers' bureau, radio and other special activities. Chairman will be appointed for each of the committees named and a unified program will be worked out with co-operation between the various committees where their activities reach the same groups. These chairmen are now being selected and will be announced at an early date, Chairman Robbins stated.

CO-OPERATION OF MOTORISTS SOUGHT BY POLICE OFFICERS

Santa Ana's record of accidents since August 15 has been almost nil, a checkup by Police Commissioner Plummer Bruns revealed today. Credit for the splendid record was given to Police Chief Floyd Howard for his establishment of two additional motorcycle officers to give the city's thoroughfares 24-hour patrolling. Bruns also asked special co-operation of motorists after school begins next week.

Officers W. H. Heard and William Nielsen recently donned motorcycle officers' uniforms and have been on regular patrol since early last month. Other motorcycle officers are Sergeant R. A. Hershey, in charge of the squad, and George Boyd and Ed Lentz. The accident record shows: An Anaheim youth was arrested on drunk driving charges August 30, after his car went out of control and turned over on McClay street, with injury to two passengers, Alice Mene and Florence Champalin, both of Anaheim. Robert Blanchard, 20, A. K. Danielson, 22, and Paul L. Sargent, 24, all of Orange, were injured on Seventeenth street near Bristol street September 4, as the Sargent car struck a pole and two trees. Sargent said he fell asleep at the wheel. Alfred Lopera, Santa Ana, was cut slightly September 3, when his motorcycle collided with an automobile driven by R. L. Haines, of Costa Mesa, on East Fourth street. Saturday evening at Fifth and Artesia, G. P. Haywood, 615 Fairlawn, was bruised when his car collided with a car operated by C. R. Hayes, 413 1/2 West Fourth.

"Much credit should go to the motorcycle squad and Chief Howard for this fine record," Commissioner Bruns said. "The two serious accidents, involving but one car in each instance, could not have been avoided even if the squad had been on the scene. I trust the motoring public will co-operate with the officers Monday when school begins and will take care of the lives of our children during the school term by watching carefully when in the school districts."

More than 200 freshmen swarmed onto the Santa Ana Junior college campus this morning for the opening of the freshmen days activities, a record number of registrations tabulated following the beginning period. Over 300 are anticipated at the end of registration Thursday.

The activities were opened with a general assembly for the freshmen held at 10 a. m. in the Baptist church auditorium. The highlight of the program was the address of welcome given by Director D. K. Hammond.

The morning's program, with Instructor L. L. Beeman presiding, was opened with a vocal solo by Reuben Krutz, student. Following the address of welcome, the faculty advisors for freshmen were introduced. These included Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, dean of women; Calvin C. Flint, dean of men; John H. McCoy, assistant director; Miss Mabel Whiting, registrar; Miss Mary Swass, Miss Lella Watson, Miss Genevieve Humiston, Miss Dorothy Decker, J. Russell Bruff, H. O. Russell, George B. Holmes and Thomas H. Glenn.

Miss Elba Johnson, who conducts a private school at Laguna Beach, and expects to open a school in Santa Ana for a limited number of day pupils, will be in the city tomorrow and Thursday to confer with parents who wish to discuss school problems with her, it was announced today.

Miss Johnson will be at Suite 1, 809 North Main street, from 7 to 9 p. m. or later, tomorrow; also at 510 East Seventeenth street, from 2:30 to 5 p. m. on Thursday, or by appointment.

Miss Johnson has conducted the Laguna Beach school for six years, in establishing the Santa Ana school, she has in mind a permanent school, it was stated.

County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson, in a letter discussing Miss Johnson and her school, stated:

"Miss Johnson is qualified to serve in any school administrative, supervisory or teaching role, either by virtue of credentials or experience. Her private school work offers a tribute to her success, and her students have been accepted in the leading school systems of California. She makes a very careful selection of teachers, each of them being highly trained and skilled in procedure as well as special curricular fields."

Republican Drive Misfires; Public Dislikes Trimming

The Republican campaign has slowed down to a walk and shows symptoms of dying off altogether. Starting off at a furious tempo, the pace of the G. O. P. has been getting slower and slower, the drive has been weakening, while the party leaders view with alarm the general apathy of the voting public to Gov. Landon's candidacy.

What is happening to the Republican Party is the same fate that overtakes any political party which thrusts aside principle to temporize with expediency. The minority party had a splendid chance this year to offer a constructive substitute if it really believed the country was displeased and dissatisfied with the Roosevelt Administration.

Don't slip now, elephant! Why does Gov. Landon continue to evade revealing his stand on major issues?

The time was ripe for a forthright declaration of policies and principles. The G. O. P. could have regained its lost prestige and perhaps even atoned for its terrible record of the past by courageously adopting a platform setting forth the program which it intended to pursue. The party should have made up its mind to be liberal or conservative. It can't be both.

If the Republicans actually believed that the Roosevelt Administration is "saddling the country with a crushing debt," they should have pledged an immediate stop to relief and farm expenditures. In that way the budget could be balanced immediately and a surplus realized under existing tax levies to start reducing the debt.

LANDON CAN'T DO BOTH

But Gov. Landon is pursuing no such course. He is promising to continue relief expenditures and to pay double indemnities to farmers. He is also promising tax reductions to the corporations.

If the Republicans really believed that the farmers are being "regimented," they should have made a definite and positive promise to cease federal efforts at control of the agricultural problem. On the contrary, they are pleading for the farm vote on the promise that they will do more for the farmers than the Roosevelt Administration is doing.

If the Republicans really believed that the Roosevelt Administration is burdening industry with excessive taxation, they should have pledged an immediate repeal of legislation against which business men complain. Instead of that, Gov. Landon is promising his own plan of social security, which as far as the country knows, may be far more burdensome to business than the measure now on the statute books.

PEOPLE LIKE TO KNOW

No one knows what Gov. Landon proposes to do in relation to foreign affairs, perhaps the most vital question before the country. But why go on?

Gov. Landon was advised to become a negative figure, to mumble moth-eaten platitudes, to avoid controversial issues, to promise the New Deal and the Old Deal, both at the same time. Unfortunately for him the people want to know what a man stands for before they put him in the White House.

Landon Inspires New Confidence By His Campaign

The rapidly growing confidence in Gov. Landon is due largely to the poise he has maintained, to his determination to speak his mind in his own way, and to his refusal to let the New Dealers have any part in mapping the course of his campaign.

Courageous independence of thought and action are far from being new among his qualifications for leadership. Strength of character and straightforward action have governed his whole career.

He relies upon no acquired manner of speech to make his words impressive. His meaning is never hidden under flowery rhetoric. There is nothing of the trained actor about him, no studied pose in his appearance before the public.

The high qualities he has displayed as a leader in business brought him the Republican nomination for Governor of Kansas in 1932. That was the year in which the big Democratic sweep occurred. The people of Kansas knew Landon, and elected him.

He was the only Republican Governor elected that year in the whole great Mississippi Valley, and in 1934 he was the only Republican Governor re-elected in the United States. He had served the people of Kansas so honestly and so ably that they would not tolerate the idea of making a change.

WHAT LANDON DID FOR KANSAS
Ask any well-informed citizen of Kansas what Landon, as Governor, did for that State, and you will get these answers:

"He fulfilled every campaign promise he made.

"He lowered property assessments and tax rates.

"He paid off accumulated state debts totaling $18,500,000.

"He did those things without sacrificing state maintenance.

"He reduced the cost of state government $2,500,000 a year.

"He abolished the 5% political assessment on office holders.

"He wiped out the highway deficit and cut auto license fees 50%.

"He administered relief without political bias or mismanagement.

"In two years his highway patrol reduced bank robberies from 61 to 8.

"He revealed a financial scandal involving prominent bankers, and sent the guilty ones to prison.

"His savings for the State amount to $20,000,000 a year.

"By effective diplomacy he united parties and political factions in a campaign for good government.

"He has kept Kansas on a pay-as-you-go basis through years of drought, dust storms, subnormal wheat crops, and financial panic.

"He has written our best state platforms, put their promises into effect, been a consistent friend of labor, has kept his feet on the ground, and won increasing respect every day he has been in office.

"Besides, he has let the people of Kansas know what their money was wanted for, and how each dollar was spent."

THE NATION'S CANDIDATE

As an independent oil operator he had to have courage, quick, sound judgment, and the fighting qualities of leadership to compete with the big combinations.

He had all those qualities, plus a lively concern for the interests of the small business man. Because of his qualifications as a leader 14,000 independent owners of wells in the Southwestern oil region followed him in his battle against the powerful corporations that refused to pipe their oil.

He won that fight for them, compelled the arbitrary combine to acknowledge its defeat, and the small well-owners were permitted to go on having their oil piped to market as before.

That is a brief word picture of Alfred M. Landon, the Republican candidate for President. His rise has been the result of his own efforts and a wise acceptance of his opportunities.

1027 CARS OF FRUIT SHIPPED IN PAST MONTH

Shipments of Valencia oranges during August through associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange amounted to 1027 carloads, 215 cars of which were sold through the Los Angeles Distributing plant and 1012 cars of Valencias moved to export and domestic markets, it was announced today.

Ahead of last year in shipments, this makes a total of 4522 cars of Valencias moved to September 1. To the same date last year shipments of loose and packed Valencias amounted to 4213 carloads. Estimate of Valencias yet to go as of September 1, including all Orange County Fruit Exchange associations, is 3001 cars of tree crop, which compares with 2351 carloads of actual tree crop for last year after September 1.

Lemon shipments from this district for the month of August amounted to 65 cars, which brings the total shipments to date of this variety to 741 carloads. The total California Fruit Growers exchange storage as of September 1 shows a decrease of 274 cars as compared with the storage of August 15th and is 23 per cent below the storage at the same time last year.

"The market on California lemons for the month of August, while somewhat below the very high prices that prevailed through July, has been very satisfactory," Clarence Skiles, exchange manager, said today. "Extremely high temperatures which prevailed throughout much of the country during July also carried over into the first of August which assisted materially in maintaining a strong demand for lemons during the early weeks of the month. The market at the present time on large sizes is quite good. The extremely small sizes, however, are being discounted and with the fruit running heavy to small sizes at the present time it is quite probable that values will continue low on these sizes."

"The revised tree crop as reported by the California-Arizona Orange and Grapefruit agency as of September 5 amounts to 13086 carloads of Valencias. This compares with an actual tree crop on the same date last year for all shippers of 17648 cars and 8088 cars after the same date in 1934. The California-Arizona Orange and Grapefruit agency anticipates that the fruit remaining on the trees as of September 5, 9774 cars of Valencias will be shipped in fresh fruit markets including both packed and loose. This compares with 13439 cars shipped after the comparable date last year, and 7158 cars after the comparable date two years ago. This anticipated shipment figure is 2665 cars less than last year, a reduction of 27 per cent, and 2616 cars more than the 1934 season, an increase of 36 per cent. These figures cover the shippable crop of all shippers which covers the entire domestic fresh fruit shipments, packed and loose."

"The California Valencia orange market is strong with a fairly active demand and, with a decreasing amount of competition from deciduous and seasonal fruits, and with the supplies rolling to market in line with the anticipated demand for this season of the year it seems reasonable to expect a continued favorable marketing opportunity for Valencia oranges for the balance of the season."

NEIGHBORLINESS
MESSTON, Kans., (UP)—Mrs. Abram Zook has decided neighborliness is not a lost virtue. Neighborliness has been found by Frank L. Wix, a resident of her recently. Her husband died last April.

Residents in many of Orange county's communities were suddenly awakened at 5:54 a. m. today by a noticeable earth tremor that rattled windows and shook dishes in the pantry. The quake was of short duration, and according to a check, did no damage.

Police departments in coast cities reported that the shock was felt, but that an investigation revealed no damage of any description.

COUNTY PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Last rites for Mrs. Lucretia Ann Pyne, 90, pioneer resident of Orange county, who passed away yesterday in the palatial home of her son, E. Walter Pyne, in Laguna Beach, will be held from Wednesday's mortuary, Santa Ana, Friday at 2 p. m. The Rev. R. I. Brahams, Laguna Beach, will officiate at the services. Interment will be in Rosedale cemetery, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Pyne, who lived for 35 years in Santa Ana and later in Los Angeles, was prominent in club and social circles in the two cities. Three years ago, on Mother's day, Mrs. Pyne moved to her son's Laguna Beach mansion, which was built chiefly for her comfort.

The Pyne mansion is one of the show places of the Southland. Known as "Broadview," the home occupies a large area in a 40 acre tract, and contains over 80 rooms.

Although he is generous about allowances, Dad is naturally interested in economy. That's one reason why he believes in gas. This modern fuel saves him two dollars out of every three he might pay for other cooking heat.

And he gets better food, too. Automatic heat control on the new gas ranges makes baking failures almost impossible. The high speed grills seal more flavor in the meat—broil in about half the time. The best meals served here in Southern California are cooked with natural gas.

FORUM BEBATE EXPECTED TO DRAW VOTERS

Every voter who seeks to elect officials who will use common sense, good judgment, in their official actions which relate to business, will be interested in the debate tonight at the Forum for Political and Economic Education in the junior college building, 917 North Main street, at 7:30, according to James Anderson, member of the arrangements committee.

W. Maxwell Burke will take the affirmative of the debate, "Resolved, That Permitting Business to Follow Its Natural Course, Namely Laissez Faire, Has Been Detrimental To Society," while Ed Utt will take the negative.

"This debate holds exceptional interest at the moment inasmuch as President Roosevelt just said in his fireside talk that every man will be provided with a job at decent wages," Anderson declared. "He also said that farm crops in abundant years will not be permitted to be sold so cheaply as in 1932, and all of this means more government planning and regulation."

"The discussion tonight will have to do with just such planning and regulation by the government," he continued. "Every voter should know the right answer to the question: Shall there be more or less government planning?"

Burke, local attorney, has been an active student of politics and should present the side he is thoroughly convinced upon, in an interesting manner. Utt has a "world" of business experience and is thoroughly capable of handling his side of the debate question.

Following the debate, a question-and-answer period will be conducted, and guests will be permitted to express their views on the subject, Anderson declared.

CALIFORNIA'S NEWEST GASOLINE REFINERY NOW IN PRODUCTION

The new two and a half million dollar Dubbs process cracking refinery, recently completed by the Wilshire Oil Company, Inc., to produce Economy Super-Octane gasoline, is now in production. Pictured are general views of the refinery at Santa Fe Springs. Upper left, the anti-knock machine which registers the octane number of the gasoline. Upper center, largest cooling tower ever built for refinery; interesting camera study of one of the fractionating towers. Upper right, first load of Economy Super-Octane leaving the refinery. Lower left, section of the cracking plant. Lower center, general view of refinery. Lower right, section of the refinery control panel, with M. A. WILSHIRE OPENS MODERN REFINERY

The new two and one-half million dollar refinery of the Wilshire Oil company, Inc., to produce Economy Super-Octane gasoline, is now in production. It is located at Santa Fe Springs.

The Wilshire Oil company has for many years made an aggressive factor in the producing, refining and marketing activities of the West coast. The company is credited with being the largest independent refiner of gasoline in California.

The company will continue to market Economy first grade gasoline as in the past. The cracked gasoline will be sold under the brand name "Economy Super-Octane." Both grades will be sold through independent dealers and no company-owned stations are contemplated. At the present time more independent dealers in Southern California sell Economy first grade gasoline than any other single brand, it is claimed.

"The new Economy Super-Octane gasoline will be made available to car owners whose automobiles require a gasoline of higher octane," says W. D. Smith, manager of operations. "The Dubbs cracking process takes the natural oil as it appears in the earth and transforms it into a better kind of gasoline, a gasoline that makes possible new speed, pick-up and dependability in automobiles. Cracked gasoline is a different kind of motor fuel than straight-run gasoline. Nature made the raw material from which it is derived, but the Dubbs cracking process has brought forth a product far different from nature's own."

3000 PRESENT FOR LABOR DAY RALLY AT PARK

Orange county members of organized labor, with their families and guests, numbering nearly 3000, assembled at Irvine park yesterday for the annual Labor day picnic, sponsored by the Orange County Central Labor union.

Addresses by Herbert F. Legg, chairman of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, and Mrs. E. M. Lee, of the Los Angeles county welfare department, were the principal program features, following the basket picnic lunch at noon.

Coffee was furnished free for the picnic by a prominent coffee manufacturer; free punch was also served, as well as ice cream for the children.

Following a talk on Labor by Mrs. Lee, who has appeared before the local picnic gathering for the last several years, Chairman Legg delivered the address of the day, a discussion of Labor's achievements, and its relations with the national administration. He avoided reference to the recent split in organized labor, but warned against labor allowing itself to be disrupted by "disturbing outside influence," apparently referring to Communist agitation. R. C. Ewing, of Anaheim, program chairman, presided over the speakers. J. A. Trendle, of Anaheim, head of the Central Labor union, was general chairman of the picnic arrangements.

FREE PICK-UP AND DELIVERY SERVICE

Western railroads urge shippers to take advantage of this free door-to-door service on less than carload freight now available between thousands of stations. It has saved millions of dollars for shippers. It is a great convenience, for the railroads take full responsibility from door to door.

Other noteworthy improvements in railroad freight service include faster schedules.

Railroad passenger service is also being revolutionized. Western railroads pioneered in reducing fares to the lowest point in history, with substantial reductions on round trip tickets. Then they provided air-conditioned cars with temperature and humidity control. If you haven't yet traveled in a cool, clean, healthful air-conditioned car do so on your next trip—a revelation in luxury—but costs nothing extra.

Travel by train because it is safer, more comfortable, more economical, more dependable, faster. . . . Ask the railroad agent about travel or shipping to any part of the world.

Proud of our achievements, we appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE... SMOKE CAMELS

AT HARVEY'S famous restaurant in Washington, D. C., you enjoy the same dishes that delighted Mark Twain, Emerson, Booth, Taft, and other famous men. What cigarette is preferred here? Most emphatically, Camels. Julius Lulley, host at Harvey's, says: "Our diners agree on Camels. Those who prefer quality food appreciate Camel's costlier tobaccos."

Camels add zest to meals—aid digestion—increase alkalinity

RUSH and mental strain impede digestion by slowing down the flow of the digestive fluids so necessary to proper, smooth digestion. Smoking Camels assists digestion by increasing the flow of the alkaline digestive fluids in a pleasant and natural way.

It is thus that Science explains the sense of well-being that you experience after you dine and smoke Camels. Make Camel your cigarette. They set you right.

TROUBLE SHOOTER. John A. Fury, telephone linesman, says: "I'm a heavy eater—like my food and like it to agree with me. Camels help digestion, and sure make for a sense of well-being after meals. Camels set me right!"

LAWSON LITTLE won both British and American Amateur Titles for two years in a row. "Camels set me right," he says. "And at meal-times, Camels make food taste better—help my digestion—give me a cheery 'lift.'"

A CASHIER has to be alert—accurate—pleasant. Miss T. Lander, shown at the ticket window of a New York movie, says: "Camels help my digestion—cheer me up. They have a marvelous taste."

"I'M FOR CAMELS," says Al Mingalone, Paramount News newsreel cameraman. "My experience proves that Camels are a big aid to digestion."

Costlier Tobaccos

Camels are made from finer. MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

TWO HOMES S.A. ENTERED BY BURGLARS

Two burglaries reported to city police last night and being investigated today by Detective Lieutenant Charles W. Wolford, netted burglars $145.

Apparently, burglars entered both places, home of Mrs. C. C. Kirkham, 407 West First street, and J. R. Moore, 424 West Second street, by using pass keys to unlock rear doors. Mrs. Kirkham reported a roomer, George Popoff, lost a diamond ring, man's gold wrist watch and man's pocket watch, valued at $100.

It was believed the burglar who entered the Moore home and ransacked one upstairs room was surprised by return of the family about 8 p.m. yesterday and failed to complete the burglary "job." He took a woman's watch, valued at $30; man's silver watch, valued at $10, and a $5 brooch.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Darn clever, these Japanese! Now that the world is in such an uproar, they select this time to defy the London naval treaty by refusing to scrap their excess submarines. Well, I always thought there was more to those Japs than appeared on the surface.

When it comes to submarines, Japan has made up her mind that no matter what England and the U. S. say about naval styles, she refuses to take off her heavy underwear.

From the way things are going, it looks as though we'll soon have to revise some of the labels on the world's map. . . . With the Japs becoming so ambitious, the name "Pacific Ocean" seems like a misnomer.

It's hard to understand how the violation of a naval pact should cause so much consternation. . . . After all, in these days a treaty is just a means for a nation to do what she pleases legally.

EARLY COUNTY HISTORY TOLD ROTARY GROUP

Santa Ana Rotarians at their noon meeting in Green Cat cafe today heard one of their own number, T. E. Stephenson, in an address based upon the life of Juan Forster, early Orange county cattleman. The speaker was introduced by Program Chairman Col. S. H. Finley.

Stephenson, who has spent a great many years collecting data concerning the history of early California, and Orange county, traced the growth of the county from the days of the Spanish grandees. He told how the huge ranches were acquired; how many of the land holders lost their ranches because of indebtedness; and how Don Juan Forster had planned for the development of this territory.

days when Orange county's principal industry was the breeding of cattle, not only for the hides and tallow, but also for beef. The territory became overstocked with cattle in the early '60's, and in 1864, Southern California experienced the worst drought in the history of the state. One rancher in Orange county whose herd had numbered 8000 head before the drought, found only 800 left at the end of the long dry period, he said.

In commemoration of Admission day, the Rotary club had a huge white and red California Republic bear flag hung behind the speaker's table. In the audience today were Mrs. Tom McFadden of Placentia, a grand daughter of Juan Forster, and Miss Felita Forster of Fullerton, a great granddaughter of the famous grandee.

ORANGE COUNTY ENTERTAIN AT QUINTET WINS FISH DINNER TALENT PRIZE

Lady Luck took a liking to five boys with a set of borrowed saxophones.

They had 57 cents between them when they entered talent auditions of "California's Hour."

Today they were declared winners of its Orange county talent tournament—$150 "rich" thanks to prize and expense money their victory brought them.

The quintet consists of Allen Dale Twigg of Anaheim, Chuck Borland of Fullerton and Les Rankin, Bill Hudspeth and Stan Logsdon of Santa Ana, most of them members of the Federal Music project.

They caught the fancy of radio listeners by playing the "Harmolonia" overture on the Orange county program, August 21, although it was the first time they had ever played it together in public.

Former 48 hours before talent scouts arrived in Orange county, the saxophone quintet went on the air without a name, and with borrowed instruments.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8.—Mutterings: What fun to guide Joan Crawford in her "Gorgeous Hussy" hoop skirts over one of those petticoat-lifting air-holes at the pleasure pier, Frantic urge: To light a blaze under slow-moving Andy Devine and discover if he can move fast. Suggestion to theater operators: Eliminate those dull credit-titles preceding pictures. You may be sued, but any jury of theatergoers will return a "not guilty" verdict. Why doesn't some darling Hollywood hostess arrange a dinner and seat ex-wives, ex-husbands adjoining?

There is nothing to marvel over in the fact that Bob Burns, self-styled "Arkansas traveler," continues to live in a $32.50-a-month flat, while his earnings, which now total about $3000 a week, are going into real estate investments. Burns is a cautious Arkansas farmer. He has known many long, lean years, and he wants no more of them. So he has set for himself this laudable saving plan: He will continue to live on $200 a month until such time as his income from investments equals that sum, when he will increase his personal allowance to $400 a month, to remain until his investment-income again catches up.

Thus Bob will never live beyond his means. If scores of former multi-thousands-per-week stars who are now begging studios for extra work had adhered to Burns' sagacious plan, there would be no crying need today for the Motion Picture Relief Fund. Yet I must not give you the impression that this is strictly a Bob Burns innovation. Mary Brian inaugurated the same systematized budget ten years ago; today she is worth a half million dollars.

Margaret Lindsay calls her wrist watch "Garbo." Explanation: Sometimes it will work; sometimes it will not.

Kay Francis has the darndest phobia for answering telephones. One ring and Kay, like a fire horse, is off full gallop to grab the receiver. It is a constant mad dash in the Francis home to see whether Kay or her maid, Ida, gets in the first hello. Nor does this spirit impel only at home. Warner Brothers studio recently installed flash-lamp signals to replace bells on movie sets (ringing bells destroy too many scenes) and now Miss Francis invariably places her chair where she can watch for the flashes, which come three at a time. Before the third flash, Kay usually has shouted a greeting into the mouthpiece. Today she confessed rather sheepishly that her phone-answering phobia has twice been disastrous. Once she tripped over wires on a studio stage and cut her arm severely; another time she sprained an ankle and could not walk for a week.

NEWPORT SELLS BIG BLOCK OF SEWER BONDS

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 8.—With the sale of $200,000 worth of bonds last night at the regular monthly meeting of the city council the city will be able to go ahead with its share in financing the $300,000 sewage system for the harbor area that was voted by the people of the district at a recent election.

An application for PWA money has been made and the city will use only enough of the above sum as is necessary over and above the federal grant to complete the project, it was stated. The bonds were sold in four parcels to as many Los Angeles financial concerns. Plans are being worked out by the city engineer and work will start on the project as soon as possible, it was stated, and it is hoped that the system will be ready for operation before the summer season next year.

A main trunk line is to be laid to empty into a large disposal plant in the extreme western portion of the city near the Santa Ana river and major branch lines are to be extended to Corona Del Mar and other sections where heavy development is most certain to be carried on within the near future. The new plant is being designed to accommodate 30,000 people.

FIRST NUMBER OF J. C. PAPER DISTRIBUTED

Issue number one, volume 13 of El Don, Santa Ana junior college weekly newspaper, was distributed today to incoming freshmen students in conjunction with the annual Freshman days events.

Bob Swanson, editor; Frank Guthrie, sports editor; Harvey Baker, advertising manager and Edward Velarde, past sports editor of the local high school Generator, collaborated with the help of John H. McCoy, assistant director and journalism instructor, in publishing the issue.

The special edition is an eight-page publication containing general jaycee news from the $6000 building project finished here this summer to the first grid drill ordered for this afternoon by Coach Bill Cook.

Editor Swanson assumes the duties vacated last semester by Walt Bandick of Orange. Swanson came from Surprise, Nebr.

Issue number two will be published Friday, Sept. 25, it is announced.

Mr. McCoy was until last year both adviser of El Don and the Santa Ana high school Generator, but with the added duties as assistant director of the college he will confine himself to advising the jaycee students this year.

News pictures will again be featured in the columns of the college paper. Last year this new innovation was inaugurated in the campus paper and proved to be a success. At the same time national all-American honors were won by El Don among weeklies published by normal schools and junior colleges.

PHOTOS FOR COURT EVIDENCE, ART, TAKEN BY STATE OFFICER

By MARAH ADAMS

Some people may have an idea that a state highway patrolman spends his spare time in planning variations in the way of saying, "Hey you, draw up to the curb," or "Where's the fire?" but such an idea is far from factual as witness George Peterkin, state highway patrolman, who not only is interested in amateur photography but is making a decided success of it.

Peterkin, who began his photographic career in making motion pictures to show in a school safety campaign, recently received two first prizes in an amateur snapshot contest receiving the first award in Class No. 1, confined to pictures of children and babies and first award in class No. 2, scenes and still life.

A baby undergoing his daily ablutions in a small bathtub set under the faucets of the tiled kitchen sink, won him one prize and a glimpse of Newport Beach near sunset, the other. The natural pose of the baby, the strong and tender grasp of the hand which holds his sleek and well-turned head, and the well brought out detail in the snapshot makes the judges' decision one in which those who see the picture, concur in the judgment.

The snapshot of Newport Beach, where the fishermen display their wares, is lovely in its lights and shadows. A path of light leads out across the ocean to where the sun is just about to plunge into heavy fog banked at the horizon. The fishing boat with its rowing boats drawn up on the shore, present a familiar scene to Orange county residents.

Court Evidence
Not only does Peterkin take photographs which have an esthetic value but his pictures have been used in many cases as court evidence. Several years ago he took moving pictures of a wreck on the San Diego highway where two women were burned to death in their car following a collision with another car. The pictures were introduced as evidence in superior court when the man responsible for the accident appeared for trial. Peterkin believes that this is the only time motion pictures were used as such evidence in superior court.

The officer took up still photography a year and a half ago, because it is more creative, he believes, than motion pictures, and because he can develop his own films. Peterkin states that during the recent citrus strike, he made the statement that he could beat the strike with a camera. As he approached strikers with his photographic equipment, groups of dissatisfied workers melted away, he relates.

Peterkin has a large collection of pictures of the 1933 earthquake. One which especially interests him is that of the Costa Mesa school, whose portal fell just as his wife stepped beneath it.

DEMANDS BICYCLE TO ESCAPE SNAKES

Assertedly drunk and trying to escape police as well as "snakes", a man approached Dr. S. L. Aubin at Orange and Walnut streets Saturday night and demanded a bicycle with which he might escape. Dr. Aubin told Officers Harry Pink and R. S. Elliott.

Not obtaining the bicycle, the man dashed across the street to a parked car. He has not been seen nor heard from since.

Bandit Fails To Stop Automobile

With his face hidden by a blanket which he placed over his head, a would-be bandit tried to jump on the running board of a car operated by Ellis Espinoza Sunday night at Katella and Westminster roads. Espinoza informed Jack Johnson of Los Alamitos. Johnson relayed the report to sheriff's officers, who are conducting an investigation. The would-be bandit failed to stop the Espinoza car, Espinoza said.

ARRANGE TALKS FOR FRESHMEN ON WEDNESDAY

Activities for incoming freshmen at Santa Ana Junior college will be resumed tomorrow when several special attractions are being offered in the second day of Freshmen days on the Don Campus.

Beginning at 10 o'clock, the freshmen will meet in the auditorium of the Baptist church, where Thomas H. Glenn, English instructor, will deliver an address on "Some Differences Between High School and College." Director D. K. Hammond will talk on "College Regulations and Traditions."

For the musical portion of the program the junior college women's octette will render several numbers. A vocal solo by George Duke will take place after Mr. Glenn's speech.

Following the assembly, students will inspect the science and art buildings. Guides for this inspection will be Clyde Piles, Burns Drake, Llewellyn Allen, Margaret Crowell and Marian Petke.

Appointments for the physical examination of all students entering the college for the first time will be made in the office in College hall. Advisers will be in their offices for consultation with students during the afternoon.

ELKS SPONSOR PASSION PLAY IN BOWL HERE

The great European Passion Play will be staged in English, at the Municipal Bowl for an evening performance September 16 and 17. It is one of the greatest stage productions ever brought here, according to local Elks. It is sponsored by the Santa Ana Elks Lodge No. 794 for the benefit of its Christmas Charity fund.

From purely a theatrical point of view, it is a rare production and as an educational and religious production, impressive and inspiring, it was said. The text of the Passion Play represents in its entirety a literal translation of the books of Matthew, Luke and John of the New Testament. The Passion Play, oldest of all drama which in its fundamental basis has given the world the modern drama of the stage and opera.

In 1928, the greatest of all modern dramatists, the late David Belasco, together with Morris Guest and Max Reinhardt, staged the Passion Play in the New York Hippodrome theater. Thereafter the play was presented at the Chicago Civic Opera House and still later on at the Philharmonic theater in Los Angeles where it was presented in German.

With the appearance of this great cast of players in Santa Ana this city should become the center of attraction. Reserved seat tickets will go on sale within a few days, to give an opportunity to see this greatest religious drama of the New Testament, portraying the Last Seven Days of Christ on earth, beginning with Palm Sunday and ending with the Crucifixion and Resurrection Easter. The company has 1000 costumes and eight tons of scenery and enacts 20 scenes, running for a three-hour presentation.

Santa Anans Conclude Interesting Trip To Colorado

Returning home yesterday afternoon from a five weeks' trip to Colorado, Utah, and other points, Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. R. H. Snyder and son, Bruce, 11, of North O. E. street, conclude a vacation marked by just one unpleasant experience, a minor automobile accident.

The Snyders were on their way to Salda, Colo., when the accident occurred. Bruce incurred head injuries which necessitated that several stitches be taken, and Mrs. Snyder received cuts and bruises. The Santa Anans traveled more than 5000 miles from the time they left here August 1 until they returned home. They went to the Grand Canyon, then to the Painted Desert and up to Gallup, N. M. At Mesa Verde, Colo., they enjoyed sightseeing in the land of the Cliff Dwellers. From along the Million Dollar highway, it was while they were at the top of Monarch Pass on the way to Salda that the automobile accident took place.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder and their little son continued to Wray, Colo. Mrs. Snyder's former home city, where they visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Miller, with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Price, whose marriage took place in this city several years ago; and with a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller. In Platteville, Colo., they were guests of Mr. Snyder's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder.

Greely and Estes Park, Colo., were other points included in the tour. Of special interest to the Santa Anans was the dinosaur beds in Utah, where the United States Geological society is working. Salt Lake City, Reno, Nev., Lake Tahoe, Yosemite and Sequoia National park were visited en route home.

DAVE WETTLIN IS BACK FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

ORANGE, Sept. 8.—David Wettlin Jr. of this city and student at the agricultural college at Davis, is back in America following a trip around the world as an employee on a Dollar liner. Young Wettlin is in the east and will return home soon.

Letters to his parents since he left have been of great interest not only to his family, but to many interested friends who have been privileged to read them. Wettlin described his quarters on the boat, those assigned cadets making the trip being, he says, as large as a breakfast nook, with a closet and two bunks. Crews quarters are still called the fore-castle, he says.

Warm days on the Red Sea would make California's "unusual weather" of the past season, seem like a cool interlude, according to the young man, whose interest in the seas over which he sailed, has been keen. The Mediterranean sea, he writes, is like a calm and blue lake.

The post office at Alexandria, ancient capital of Egypt, is an open patio with four walls around it where the postal business is carried on. Heat at Singapore, heat at Manila with warm rains every day, do not appeal to the young Californian. A sheet over a sleeper would be like two heavy blankets on a hot summer day in California, he declares.

The beauty of Italy, the little villages which nestle in the top of the boot which is outlined by the country, the green terraced hills, the buried city of Pompeii, Mt. Vesuvius with its chimney of smoke all aroused the enthusiasm of the Orange boy.

LAUNCH $1500 WELFARE DRIVE IN CITY SOON

ORANGE, Sept. 8.—With the annual drive for funds soon to be under way, workers on the Orange Community Welfare board are making plans for raising $1500, a sum $500 under that set for last year's drive. C. H. Robinson is in charge of plans. Letters are to be sent to those who have contributed to the work in previous years and those who have not taken part in the activity are invited to do so.

Alfred Higgins, president of the board, in outlining work done by the organization stated that the board works with other relief agencies of the city and county and that there is no overlapping of relief work. Emergencies often arise, he pointed out, when disaster would result if it were not for the speedy help rendered by the welfare board in cases of sudden sickness or times when persons in need are waiting for state or county aid.

According to Mrs. Clara Haines, welfare worker, school clothing and shoes are needed at the store as well as beds and mattresses. Two years ago, Mrs. Haines stated, 29 children of the city could not start to school because of lack of shoes but it is believed that this number will not be duplicated this year.

Work done at the welfare store recently included sending a carload of travelers from the dust bowl on their way. The car held three adults and seven children who were given provisions to start back to their home in Oklahoma. The children were undernourished and in a pitiful condition, according to Mrs. Haines.

The day following the appearance of the travelers from the dust bowl, Mrs. Haines aided a family of fruit workers, parents and six children. Their baggage and bedding had been stolen from their car just before their arrival in Orange and their greatest care was a pair of three weeks old twins, practically without clothing. The babies were born in a fruit camp in the north and the oldest child of the six was a boy of 13.

3 RESCUED FROM DROWNING, MANY ASSISTED TO SHORE; 4 TAKEN OFF DISTRESSED VESSEL

Orange county's coast towns from San Clemente on the south to Seal Beach on the north were crowded to the limits this week end, as thousands of Southern Californians flocked to the beaches for the last of the summer holidays. Laguna, Balboa, Newport and Seal Beach all reported record crowds.

With record throngs of bathers lining the shores, life guards were kept busy throughout the three-day holiday.

At Huntington Beach, where a three-day celebration of Black Gold Days was in progress, two persons' lives were saved by life guards, who also assisted dozens of others to safety through the breakers. R. J. Bland, 50, of 321 North Euclid avenue, and a neighbor, Vivien Weasley, 15, were swimming 100 yards from the shore when caught by a rip tide.

T. F. Wilson, Tod Clark and Earl Wilson, all of La Habra, swam to the rescue of Miss Weakley, Lifeguard Don Winters swam through the treacherous tides to the side of Bland, and managed to drag the unconscious man back to the shore. A rescue squad from the fire department and Dr. Lawrence Whitaker of Huntington Beach worked on the unconscious man for over an hour, finally reviving him.

At 8:45 p. m. yesterday, in answer to distress signals from a sail boat just off the Huntington Beach pier, Life Guards Bud Higgins and Bert Harding rowed a boat to the side of the distressed craft. The small boat, home port San Pedro, was unable to make use of its sails because of a lack of wind. The small auxiliary engine would not work. The guards took four persons off the stranded boat, two of them were Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Skirtner. The other couple requested police to keep their identity secret. A coastguard cutter from San Pedro towed the stranded craft back to port.

At Goff Island, a short distance south of Laguna Beach, Alfred Howard Trethway, 32, Los Angeles, sustained a triple fracture of the right leg when he was swept from the rocks by a breaker. Howard had been on the rocks fishing. Laguna Beach Traffic Officer Howard A. Allanson, after administering first aid, took the injured man to the hospital of Dr. B. B. Mason.

PERMITS FOR BUILDING AT NEWPORT GAIN

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 8.—Building permits totaling over a half million dollars have been issued here for the year up to September 1, according to A. M. Nelson, building inspector for the city, showing, he stated, an increase of over $15,000 over the building program for the same period last year. Permits for August totaled $38,079, he pointed out, which is about three times those of the same month last year.

The latest large building contract was let a few days ago by C. A. Collin of Los Angeles, who will build a $10,000 home on Lido Isle. Another recent permit is one by John F. Flenke of Pasadena, who is planning a $2500 home on Grand Central avenue, Balboa Island.

SEEK TO HALT ACCIDENTS ON LAGUNA ROAD

Garvin, prominent Laguna Beach citizen, looking towards placement of signs, signals and a guard-rail at the curve in question.

LAGUNA BEACH COUNCIL TO ACT ON IMPORTANT MATTERS

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 8.—Several matters of importance are scheduled for discussion and action at Wednesday's meeting of the Laguna Beach city council, adjourned from last Wednesday.

Final action on the Broadway Improvement Matton bonds; reports of city planning, recreation, and dog-pound committees; and further discussion of the project outlined by Gus Baldwin, and tentatively okayed at last week's meeting, are among the subjects on tomorrow night's agenda.

Some confusion seems to prevail as to the actual standing, sponsorship, aims and objects, as well as ultimate outcome, of the Baldwin-sea-training plan, under which, as previously stated, Duane Kipp, of Laguna Beach advances $1000 for the purchase of an outmoded auxiliary craft, presently berthed, it is said, in Seattle.

The WPA will assign workmen to remodel the boat, the city of Laguna Beach standing as sponsor for the project. When remodelled at a cost stated to be $5064 of WPA funds, the ship, nebulously described as a "50-foot, motor-sailer type boat" will be used in training youngsters interested in seaman-ship. The course will be conducted by Baldwin.

Members of the city council under the impression that the project was part of the Sea Scout activities, have been informed that the Santa Ana and Orange County Sea Scout movement know nothing of the plan. The original papers filed by Gus Baldwin, which were not available last week, are expected to clear up the seeming mystery, tomorrow night.

FINE, BUT HOW?

In Roosevelt's last fireside speech, he says that jobs will be provided for all at a "decent" wage. This is fine!

We do not believe, in all history, this has ever been accomplished—that the slow and inefficient can be paid a decent wage for any length of time. We can imagine that a decent wage can be paid to the slow and inefficient for a short time by taking from those who work efficiently and giving it to those who work slowly. This, however, only retards future production and, as a result, eventually lowers all wages.

To illustrate, by a simple example, the effects of a decent wage to those who do not produce the equivalent of their wage, the results to society as a whole are exactly as they would be if a farmer paid the same reward to the slow, incompetent worker as he did to the efficient, skilled worker. The result would be that he would not long have the efficient, skilled workers, as they would either become slow or go to work for someone who did not take from them to give to the inefficient.

In another place in Roosevelt's speech, he says: "Sound policy, (referring to farm policy), must maintain farm prices in good crop years as well as bad crop years."

Again, we ask how? The Republican administration tried this with their grain corporation. If prices are not to be the guide as to what society wants done, then what will be the guide as to what should be produced or made? No one, in all history, has ever answered this question. Now, Roosevelt proposes to answer it, but fails to say how.

This mysticism is hard to swallow, especially since he has advocated plowing under the cotton, killing the pigs and paying for non-production. It is hard for the layman to understand how Roosevelt proposes to do this. And, since he has never carried through his mystical proposals in the past, it is exceedingly difficult to have much faith in his proposals, unless he submits a practical plan with blueprints attached. He says now that they went into the farm program before and had no blueprints. We would like to see his blueprints now as to how he will give a "decent" wage to the slow and good prices for big crops. It is fine but we cannot take his word for it, with his past record of accomplishing what he promises.

MARRIED LIFE REWARDS THOSE WHO EARN IT

Once more we have been getting a wealth of information—together, perhaps, with a certain amount of misinformation—about the wedded life of a Hollywood movie star. Another movieland divorce suit has made the front pages, and we discover anew that human beings with the bark off can be singularly unattractive creatures.

A divorce case makes disheartening reading, in Hollywood or in Hicksville. It is always sickening to see two people, who have stood together a few years before and pledged to each other their love, their loyalty, and their forbearance, sitting in court reciting their stories of distrust and hatred.

Te divorce court is a house of broken dreams, and the wreckage is a dismal sight.

Any confession of abject failure is disheartening, for that matter; and a suit for divorce is such a confession, always—a confession made more distressing by the fact that the drama which is ending in mean tragedy began with such boundless hopes.

It is that fact which makes the whole "divorce evil" such a dismaying phenomenon in American life. It is a sign that Americans in ever-increasing numbers are making a botch of the most important personal relationship they ever will have.

Why are they failing? Isn't it because so many of us expect too much from marriage and give too little to it?

We want a "happy ever after" ending, but we hate to think that we have to earn it; we want the honeysuckle to twine 'round the door in the approved romantic style, but we forget that someone first must do the hard and unromantic job of breaking the ground and planting the darned stuff.

A marriage begun in that spirit has two strikes on it before it ever comes up to the plate. It is the kind of marriage in which a few quarrels and misunderstandings breed a resentment that refuses to die; a resentment which magnifies little faults and keeps them alive, which nourishes that deadliest of all emotions, self-pity, and which eventually sets both husband and wife to complain, "Was there ever a person so abused as I am?"

The answer to that question, of course is simple. It is: "Why, sure—millions on millions of people. Every married person since time began, as a matter of fact. You're just getting what every husband and every wife has got since the day of Adam and Eve. What's the matter with you? Can't you take it?"

Unfortunately, people seldom talk that way to disillusioned married folk, and a great number of people haven't sense enough to talk that way to themselves. So the divorce courts are kept busy and we get this miserable round of recriminations and sordid accusations.

Ninety per cent of it could be avoided if people just could realize in advance that the rewards of marriage go only to those people who are willing to work for them.

SELLING MORE LABOR

In the Atlantic Monthly for September, is a very interesting article on "Selling More Labor" by Sumner H. Slichter. Mr. Slichter is professor of business education at the Harvard School of Business Administration. In this article, Mr. Slichter points out that in former years we had no thought as to being unable to give employment, not only to the natural increased population but to all those who cared to immigrate to the United States.

Between 1900 and 1914, the United States received an average of nearly a half million immigrants a year. American industry absorbed these new workers, as a matter of course. During this time, the rate of increase in population was much more rapid than it is now. Now, there is practically no immigration and a great decline in birth rate. Yet, we seem unable to sell the labor that wants work.

There is undoubtedly a cause for our inability now to sell the labor of those who want work now we were able to do it previously with a much higher birth rate and with immigration of nearly a half million a year.

Mr. Slichter summarizes the matter by saying that it will be necessary to have more factories and more capital that have to be operated if we are to give normal employment to those who want to work.

He ridicules the idea that labor can be sold by increasing the price; that there is nothing else that can be sold in greater quantity by increasing the price and it is only an illusion to think that more labor can be sold by increasing the price.

Here is an economist who has the same ideas as John Stuart Mill and Adam Smith. Our new political economists and our new reformers take exactly the opposite idea—that there are more jobs with artificial wages. They disregard all the laws of economics. They contradict Adam Smith when he said, "A demand of those who live by wages, therefore, necessarily increases with the increase of the revenue and the stock of every country, AND CANNOT POSSIBLY INCREASE WITHOUT IT." The increase of revenue and stock is the increase of national wealth. Of course if the demand for labor is small, wages, if there be any, will be low. It is only by increasing the demand for labor that wages can be high.

Our present policy is to destroy wealth, limit production and allow wages to be based on wishes rather than production, in the belief that this will put men back to work. How long will they have to try this kind of an experiment?

SOVIET SONIA'S SMILE

Russia may revolutionize the structure of her government and her civilization, but she hasn't changed her women. Miss Russia of 1936 is spending millions for lipstick and rouge even as her sisters the world over.

Last year an $84,000,000 profit was chalked up by Tege, Russia's great cosmetic trust. Now the trust has sent a representative to America to determine whether we make better rouge and lipstick and, if so, how; and to bring back latest American equipment for protection and preservation of beauty.

It will be remembered that the first five-year plan frowned on such "unnecessaries." Now, however, Soviet Sonias are finding they may express feminine charm through an applied touch of beauty on lips and cheeks, and the government, noting the profits, approves.

Day By Day In Washington

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 8.—New Mexico is one of those states which looks decidedly as if it could be for Roosevelt, but which could be by a slight margin give its electoral vote to Landon if the Townsendites do not vote the Democratic ticket.

In 1932, the state of New Mexico went for Mr. Roosevelt by about 41,000, but this year even the most optimistic estimate from the best informed persons on the Democratic side does not go beyond 15,000. This means not a close result, but that could be overruled, as in 1924, by a three-way activity. Thus, in that year, Mr. Coolidge failed by 3000 to get a majority of the votes cast, but nevertheless had a plurality sufficient to get the electoral vote over Mr. Davis and Mr. La Follette respectively.

The Republicans here have made a direct bid for the Townsend vote. The Townsendites put on a demonstration during the recent Republican state convention here and did succeed in having written into the platform a proposal for a "revolving plan" for old age pensions.

But the word "Republican" does not mean the same thing here as it does in most other states. The followers of the late Sen. Bronson Cutting, Progressive Republican, control the Republican party. This is one of the few states, too, curiously enough, where large groups of voters are dominated by county bosses. This is particularly true of the Spanish-American vote, so, if one knows how the county leaders are heading, he can tell how the state will vote.

There's a chance that, irrespective of the presidential race, Miguel Otero, Republican nominee for the United States senate, and backed by the Cutting followers, may defeat Senator Chavez, Democrat, the present incumbent, largely over the residuary animosities growing out of the Cutting-Chavez feud.

The Spanish-American vote is about 45 per cent of the total here, and "deals" with the leaders of that vote are not uncommon on behalf of both major parties. The federal relief checks have been pouring into this state. Someone has calculated that there are about 27,450 federal remittances to individuals, which, out of a voting strength of about 150,000, seems like a fairly substantial leverage for the party in power.

The total federal money spent here last year is estimated at about $26,000,000, and in 1934, about $19,000,000. New Mexico pays only about $1,500,000 in federal income taxes and has a relatively small budget—about $7,000,000—so the federal money spent here takes on colossal proportions judged by any state government money ever expended heretofore.

Business of a retail character is reported good on every side as a consequence of the purchasing power created by the vast federal subsidies. Relief agencies here are pretty well dominated politically. The federal and state agencies have been well blended under an alert New Deal governor. Many are the tales one hears that, to get attention, an applicant must sign or give some sort of pledge to support Mr. Roosevelt. This would not be surprising in view of the rather primitive way politics is handled in New Mexico anyway.

The Republicans have by no means conceded the state and feel mind for Governor Landon will be that the campaign they have in fruitful. But the outlook at the moment is that only a far-reaching tide of sentiment against Mr. Roosevelt and in favor of Mr. Landon can change the situation, which might be described as "in the bag" for Mr. Roosevelt.

Little Benny's
Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Pop was smoking and thinking in his private chair and ma said, "Will you want to give me some ideas. The Literary Chapter of the Dawtters of Cleopatra is going to have a debate on the subject of whether another world war is necessary or whether it would be disastrous. I'm on the side claiming it would be disastrous. Would you call that the pro or the con side, Will you?" she said.

The con side, pop said, and ma said, "Then that's the side I'm on and I want you to suggest some good arguments." The air's full of them, pop said. Yee gods, another big war would result in general kayoss, he said, and ma said, I see what you mean, you mean there's no use fighting for something we already have.

Yes, no, for Peet sake the condition of the world today is Paradise compared to the gassy mess another war would make, he said, and ma said, Do you mean to use the word gassy as a kind of a pun on poison gas?

Are you getting up a debate or a minstrel show? pop said. Yee gods if the world is in debt up to its head now, it will be in debt over its head after another war, he said, and ma said, But Will you if I advance that argument do you know what the opposing side will say? They'll say all right, let's do without money entirely and that will eliminate debts and besides everybody knows that money is the proverbial root of all evil. That's what they'll say and that'll be a feather in their cap. The point is to think up ideas that they won't have a good answer to, ma said.

After another world war there will be nobody left, but widows and orphans, will they have a good answer to that? pop said, and ma said, Why certainly, they'll say it will be an opportunity to organize charity to the most perfect state of history ever been since the beginning of history.

I'll see you later, pop said. And he got in back of the sport page.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

MUST AMERICA CHOOSE?

Henry Wallace wrote a little book and called it America Must Choose. In it he said that America must choose one of three policies, viz:

- (1) Nationalism.
- (2) Internationalism.
- (3) A Planned Middle Course.

Since then, the worldwide movement to make the state supreme over all, of which the New Deal is the American manifestation, has put to Americans a long and bewildering array of dilemmas—a series of ultra-sharp alternatives between which some, at least, of the New Dealers seem to think Americans must choose.

In the first of a series of papers in the Atlantic Monthly, Walter Lippmann summarizes some of the alternatives, viz:

- (1) To improve our fortunes we renounce our right to liberty.
- (2) To gain greater security we must be content with less liberty.

- (3) To escape from want we must enter a prison.
- (4) To regularize our work we must be regimented.
- (5) To have greater equality we must be satisfied with less freedom.
- (6) To be sure of national solidarity we must oppress dissenters.
- (7) To gain dignity as a people we bootlick tyrants.
- (8) To realize the full benefits of science we must destroy free inquiry.
- (9) To promote the truth we must not let it be examined.

Nobody in power anywhere will badly admit these as aims. They are, nevertheless, the outcome of the all-dominant state movement the world around.

Somebody should subject these false alternatives to a ruthless and realistic examination, and the book might well be called, "Must America Choose?"

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

THE STRANGER-CHILD

Dear Boys and Girls: Whenever you find a strange child in your class, in the playground, or in your neighborhood, go out of your way to meet him, speak to him and make him welcome. It is very hard to be a stranger among strangers. A boy or a girl your age comes to live near you and go to your school. That must mean that he has left a school where he was known and where he had friends. It means that he has left the familiar thing he has known and loved behind him and that he is feeling his lonely way about in this strange place.

Of course it is not strange to you. You know the policeman on the corner. He smiles at you, or he shouts a warning at you, as you go and come. He is your friend. You know the fruit stand man and his cranky ways. He grows at you as you pass and you smile and call, "Hello, Tony," for you know he likes you. When you go down the street somebody yells across to you, somebody slaps you on the back, someone grabs your hat or knocks your books from under your arm, and you protest valiantly and joyously. You are among friends.

The boy or the girl who has just arrived knows nobody. The officer is a stranger in uniform, the children are strangers who might be friendly, the teachers are all new and fearsome. The one in the yard who swells his chest and roars, "Line up," is just Uncle Tommy to you, but he is a terror to the stranger. And the bells, the monitors, the traffic regulations—all familiar and matter of fact to you—are bewildering to the stranger who does not know whether he is to go forward or back or when or how. Help him.

Whenever you meet a stranger child smile at him and take him along with you. If you can't go his way just then see that some friendly boy or girl takes him over and makes him feel certain of himself. It is the only decent thing to do. You would want if you were in a strange school or a new neighborhood.

Children coming from another country or city are likely to be different from you and the other children. If they come from a far country their differences will be marked. Their language will be different from yours. Maybe they will not be able to talk to you at all, and in that case you would be very thoughtful of them and help them all you could, of course. Imagine how you would feel if you could not make yourself understood among the people about you. It is a terrible predicament, especially for a child.

Their clothes and their manners, their accent may be different from yours. What of it? Your good manners would prevent your making any remarks about such things, and you would do your best to put the strangers at ease. Just be kind. You will find your heart warmer, your step lighter, your day brighter because you have come closer to a human child. Just try to remember the stranger.

Cordially,
Angelo Patri.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

MORALE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The Army generals, who look on the Spanish civil war solely as another technical military problem, are figuring the rebels will win. They have thought for some days now it would be only a question of time until the government forces collapse.

Their theory has been that victory would be won by the side able to mass the largest force of regularly trained troops, not those rawest recruits you have seen flumming with guns for the movie news reels.

In the early days of the revolution, there was some doubt about the allegiance of the enlisted personnel of the Spanish army. The officers were mostly rebel sympathizers, but there was a grave question how long they could continue to rely on their men. Recent rebel victories in the north settled that question.

No reason now is seen why the rebels cannot roll up and defeat the government forces, one by one, in the north and pinch off

Madrid in a "nutcracker" movement. Note—State department diplomatic reports confirm the impression of instability at Madrid. For fully a week authorities have been studying the possibilities of governmental collapse.

ORDERLINESS

President Roosevelt has been working harder lately than since those early New Deal days of the banking crisis. For two days before he left on his trip he was in almost continuous conferences in preparation of his semi-annual budget statement. The train ride afforded no opportunity for rest, and involved longer and harder hours than the usual campaign trips, in which the candidates are generally protected as much as possible from the strain. Then, the night he returned, he chose to make a radio speech.

Those who have followed the President's method closely have noted that he has developed a personal system which has enabled him to protect himself increasingly from the wear and tear of office. For one thing, he has an ability to concentrate on one subject at a time and a greater ability to lay the subject aside when he is through with it. In this way, his mind has become a very orderly filing cabinet.

Furthermore, train riding and traveling do not tire him as much as the average person. The motto of the White House correspondents has been "Join the Roosevelt entourage and see the world," but none of the newsmen is able to stand the trip as well as he does.
